

About this report:Career Path Snapshot

The BestWork Experience measures personality traits and cognitive abilities that tend to remain stable over time. This Career Path Snapshot applies those measurements to various career paths and options within a typical business. It then suggest those paths that are most promising with regard to the individual's particular strengths. It also cautions with regard to paths that are significantly mismatched to the individual's strengths. Short term experience in a mismatched position is often necessary to prepare for other positions. This report is not intended to preclude that possibility, but to set realistic expectations for both the individual and the company.
